THE SPACE SUITE
KAMEHA GRAND ZÜRICH, SWITZERLAND

Journey into the universe with a stay in the Space Suite. This monochrome tribute to space travel has been designed by German artist Michael Najjar – a man who has an intimate knowledge of space as he is set to become one of Richard Branson's Virgin Galactic Pioneer Astronauts.

Walking into the suite, you are welcomed by an automated female voice – inspired by John Carpenter's sci-fi flick Dark Star. All around are hovering astronauts, pictures of galaxies, three of Najjar's original artworks and models of rockets. There is even a bookshelf stacked high with space-related literature and an Apple TV with more than 20 movies related to space. The bed is designed to appear as if it is floating, and the sheets are black, paying homage to the monolith from 2001: A Space Odyssey.

With a kitchenette, a walk-in wardrobe, as well as a steam bath and rain shower in the bathroom, this is a micro universe you may never want to leave.

EXTREME WOW SUITE
W SINGAPORE SENTOSA COVE

It's time to get the party started in the Extreme WOW Suite! A DJ booth featuring two state-of-the-art turntables and a stellar record collection will soon have you discovering your inner DJ, while your guests can indulge at the well-stocked (and stunning) turquoise and silver bar. You can even take the party outside and into the balcony's plunge pool, with its views of the South China Sea and Quayside Isle. If a dinner party's more your style, then there's a fully-equipped kitchen, complete with barbecue and wine chiller, for preparing gourmet delights to eat at the ten-person dinner table. Your guests can make themselves at home on the massive curved leather sofa, which faces a 55-inch Bang & Olufsen LED IPTV and sound system. Once your guests have left, there's a marble bathroom with stainless-steel Jacuzzi bathtub for relaxing in, or you can continue the fun in the bedroom with its mirrored ceiling and headboard. One thing's for sure – you'll be glad of the blackout curtains by sunrise.
